Alan Felstead, Nick Jewson : In Work, At Home: Towards an Understanding of Homeworking before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised In Work, At Home: Towards an Understanding of Homeworking:

More and more people are choosing to earn a living at home. In Work, At Home explores the meaning and experience of this type of employment by covering a wide range of issues including: * social relationships* current research methodologies* statistical analyses of global labour markets* the emotional and psychological processes of self-management* home relations. Presenting statistical analyses of labour markets in North America, Europe, Asia and Australia, In Work, At Home provides a valuable introduction to the issues and debates surrounding homeworking and will appeal to students across a range of disciplines, including sociology, business studies and women's studies.

'Interesting, comprehensive and bound to be the new classic on the topic.' - Carol Wolkowitz, University of Warwick
