Very InspiringBy Tobi BrownAn incredibly inspiring book about a homegrown effort to provide community, food and education to the people of this small town in England. A couple of women put in raised beds planted with food to share, and the revolution was born. If you eat, you're in is the motto. Read it and be inspired to help others catch the gardening bug!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Such great ideas!!By AnimalLover333Five stars, I would give 10 if it were possible. I'm not finished with it yet but it is so entertaining and educational, I would wish this concept to go viral all over the world! I think it is happening, just needs to go a little faster, so everyone buy, share and gift this book!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Inspirational! Read it, enjoy it, then go and plant carrots. A BRONZE MEDAL WINNER! The Wishing Shelf AwardsBy The Wishing Shelf AwardsThis book was a bronze medal winner in the 2014 Wishing Shelf Book Awards. Plant Veg, Grow a RevolutionAuthor: Pamela Warhurst, Joanna DobsonStar Rating: 5 stars, BRONZE MEDALISTNumber of Readers: 34Readers CommentsWhat a sweet book. I loved every page. Fab cover and blurb too. Made me want to go out and plant carrots. Female reader, aged 47This book offers a solution in a world of economic decline and climate change. Set in Todmorden, Yorkshire, the community there begins to plant vegetables in public spots. As a result, not only is the community spirit revived but it begins a world-wide, vegetable-growing REVOLUTION! I liked this book very much. It is well-written with a fun, witty undertone. There is help at the end of the book if you wish to get involved. Male reader, aged 55A very inspiring read presented in an eye-catching cover. The tone is perfect for a book of this nature and the strong, environmental image is relevant to many of today's problems. Incredible! reveals how one town decided to take control of its own future - with vegetables. The future looks bleak. The economy's in the doldrums. We've lost faith in politicians and big business. Over all that looms the threat of climate change - extreme weather is already sending shock waves through global food supplies. But a once-forgotten Yorkshire mill town is spreading a new story of hope...This is the tale of an extraordinary local food movement that has become a worldwide phenomenon. Told by Pam Warhurst, co-founder of Incredible Edible Todmorden, and writer Joanna Dobson, the book invites readers into a humorous, inspiring and often moving series of stories that brought people together through the simple method of planting vegetables in public places. People have found that when they put edible plants in their front gardens, they get to know their neighbours, building a community one conversation at a time. When they grow fruit trees at school, children learn life skills. And when market traders stock local produce, they build business networks. Incredible Edible Todmorden has sparked similar projects across the world - and it could be your story, too! Incredible!Plant Veg, Grow a Revolution has an international audience, appealing to anyone who cares about the environment, gardening, community, education or local enterprise.

About the AuthorPam Warhurst CBE is a community leader, activist and economist with a passion for the environment.
