Intensive Culture of Vegetables. CHAPTER I. I ntroductory. Les recoltes se succedent de six en six semaines; et apres chacune, l homme retrouve sa terre aussi vaillante et aussi docile qu auparavant. Parce qu il lui est devoue, il la possede comme personne ne la posseda jamais, comme jamais amant ne posseda sa maitresse. (L a Cite Chinoise G. Eng. Simon.) 11 Crops succeed one another every six weeks; and after each the cultivator finds his soil as productive and as workable as before. Because he is devoted to it, he esteems it as no one ever esteemed it before, and as no gallant has ever esteemed his lady love. ONCE the meaning of this quotation is fully understood, it will give a fair idea of the spirit that should dominate the enthusiast in the intensive culture of vegetables. The cultivator must be devoted to and interested in his work and really love the land, the mother of all wealth and production and the most important asset at his disposal.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and don't occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books' Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
