From Brand: Abbeville Press : International Design Yearbook 16 before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised International Design Yearbook 16:

Covering five major areas of domestic design, International Design Yearbook 16 devotes separate chapters to furniture, lighting, tableware, textiles, and products created over the past 18 months by both well-known designers and new names from around the world. This year's selection has been made by internationally acclaimed architect and lighting designer Michele De Lucchi. As fresh as the millennium itself, the annual presents futuristic technological ideas, such as Ron Arad's computer-animated vases, as well as reinventions of time-honored objects, like Sir Norman Foster's light design for Artemide. This who's who of domestic design includes the vibrant, modern talent of Emmanuel Babled, Jonathan Ives, and Ettore Sottsass, and design teams from Philips, Sharp, and Siemens. The objects are lavishly illustrated, and full technical data is given for each. A comprehensive reference section provides biographies of the designers, a list of suppliers and their addresses, and an updated list of design acquisitions at major international museums.

From the PublisherNow in its 16th year, this unique showcase remains the most authoritative guide to contemporary design.About the AuthorA design consultant for Olivetti since 1979, Michele De Lucchi's many design credits include the pavilion of the Groninger City Museum in the Netherlands, Artemide's Tolomeo lamp series, and more than 50 Fiorucci shops. He operates AMDL architectures, a Milan-based design firm, and has won numerous design awards, such as the Compasso d'Oro.
