Le Corbusier : Le Corbusier: Houses before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Le Corbusier: Houses:

Charles-douard Jeanneret, otherwise known as the Swiss architect Le Corbusier, is famous for proclaiming "the house is a machine for living in". This neat comparison of 106 of his designs for houses edited by Tadao Ando Laboratory (with model, as well as plan and side views), each house to one spread, sets Le Corbusier's experiments in perspective.

Two essays discuss the theory behind his designs and what they reveal about the man himself.
